THANK YOU to Countdown and The Salvation Army. Countdown have partnered with The Salvation Army and they distribute excess bread and buns to schools and community organisations. We are very fortunate to receive regular deliveries to share with our tamariki.

Thank you Countdown and The Salvation Army

STAYING SAFE ONLINE

We have recently had some children experiencing issues outside of school with social media, e.g. silly comments, unwanted messages etc.

Please help your children by staying aware of their online activities; talking to your children about any issues they are having online, and have a look at netsafe.org.nz, which has great information about how to stay safe online.

HALLOWEEN

It started off with my Mum, Nick, Harlen, Jayda and me driving down to Kamo. I was a doll, Harlen was a nun and Jayda was a zombie. We got there and no luck. There was no candy or spooky houses, nothing.

Then we saw it. A spooky house with skeletons, cobwebs and spiders and a bowl of candy at the door. It said "Take 2 please" so Jayda and I took two but Harlen took three.

Then there was this CRAZY house with doll babies carrying a dead body and SO MUCH SPOOOOooky stuff.

We walked down a little road and saw a house with a baby with no eyes carrying a spoon of blood and when we knocked at the door a ghost came out AHHHHH. But we realised she was quite friendly. She gave us some candy and creaked the door shut.

We went to many more houses then our bags were getting heavy so we went home with lots of candy and a mandarin. "Awesome" said everyone.
