Pataua Camp Stories

“Yay finally I can jump of the bridge”

I said to Jayda as we were lining up to jump. It was finally my turn as I was getting up I started to hesitate, but sucked it all up and I jumped. It was nice and refreshing.

When I was lining up to jump my second time it started to get to windy and the current got stronger and stronger. We started to walk back. As soon as we got back we had our morning tea. I loved jumping off the bridge it felt good.

“Yumm” I said to friends.

I could smell the sausages and potato.

I waited for Mrs Knight to pick the table I was at. Suprisingly we were the second table to be picked.

So we grabbed our plates and cutlery.

We lined up at the table and got our food. There was coleslaw, sausages and potato. The food was Incredible.

As I splashed in the water I felt something burning on my leg “OUCH” I said in my head. So I got out and played in the sand.
After that, we all went back to the camp.

I told Mrs Knight about the sea rash and she said to go and get some stuff on my legs but I needed to have a shower first.

I got my stuff and my towel and got in the shower.

After that I got a big bunch of the stuff for the rash and went in my tent to put it on.

Next, the people that wanted to bridge jump went on the bridge. The people that didn't want to bridge jump went on the sand. It was very windy. We were going to go swimming again but we didn't. It was way too_cold. Then we went back and ate.
I loved camp so much!

“Boo, were going to Pataua.” I said. When we got there I got sunburnt.

It was fun. We played infinity tag, touch, spotlight and tennis.

We had a talent show. I played the piano and I was in an army skit. I was petrified when I was playing piano.

My favourite thing was getting sunburn. I felt perfect.
